Braefoot Bay Marine Terminal

The Braefoot Bay Marine Terminal is a permanently manned installation designed for the ship loading of natural gas liquid products received by underground pipelines from the Fife NGL Plant.

A two-spur Jetty extends into the Firth of Forth towards Inchcolm Island. As well as the SEGAL jetty ExxonMobil own and operate the other jetty.